Red Steel

Hastings Health Centre

About us:

Based in Hawke's Bay, New Zealand, Red Steel provide steel structures to projects throughout New Zealand predominately in the lower North Island. We are quality focused and have invested heavily in software, systems, equipment and people to ensure that our work meets the requirements of the design. The quality of the team at Red Steel gives us the confidence to undertake all types of structural work with the highest level of professionalism

The Project:

The Hastings Health Centre is set to build a multimillion-dollar primary health centre on the former Bunnings site on the corner of St Aubyn St and King St, relocating from its current Queen St site.

The new health centre will be one of the most advanced primary care medical facilities in the country, providing better access to a range of services usually accessed outside of the hospital environment, including urgent and after-hours medical care.
